Demonstrate the Jewish value of Gemilut Chasadim (acts of loving kindness) for the people in your community. Create works of art on your sidewalk, house window, or front door, to spread cheer to your neighbors.

Option 1
- Grab some chalk and decorate your sidewalk. Think about how you want to express your positive message with words and images.

Option 2
- Decorate your front door or a window in your home with words and images of encouragement for the people who are still working in your community like mail and delivery carriers, healthcare workers, and grocery store employees. You can create your own signs, posters, and decorations that will uplift the important work that people in your community are doing.

Bonus Challenge: Make a poster as a gift for a neighbor to display and drop it off outside their home.
