Afikomen Bag

One of the most exciting moments for kids during the Seder is the search for the afikomen, a piece of matzah that is broken in half. The afikomen is often placed in a bag and hidden somewhere around the house for kids to find. Create your own afikomen bag by repurposing an old t-shirt and decorating it in your own way.

What you will need:

- Old t-shirt or other recycled fabric that is cut to be around 9x12 inches
- Sharp Scissors
- A hot glue gun or other crafting glue
- Craft supplies for decorating

What to do:

- Take your two pieces of fabric and line them up together.
- Glue the pieces together like you are creating an envelope, glue the sides and the bottom but not the top. If using a hot glue gun, make sure it is handled only by grownups and that this step is done quickly. You can also use Elmer's glue, but it will take longer and require more glue.
- Let your bag dry for 1-2 hours.
- Decorate your bag with craft supplies you have at home.

Bonus Challenge: Try making a tote bag out of an old t-shirt. You can follow along with the instructions here. You can use your tote as an alternative to single use plastic bags. If you feel adventurous, try making your afikomen bag using this method. This is also a great alternative if you don't have a glue gun.
